Riggs Construction & Design: 50 Years Of Remodeling, Repair & Home Maintenance

For more than 50 years, the Riggs family has been helping Kirkwood and Webster Groves homeowners create better, more functional space in their homes. From kitchens and bathrooms, to complete renovations and additions, Riggs transforms homes for today's needs and lifestyles.

One emerging trend involves a space that homeowners may not immediately think of when it comes to remodeling — the garage. Homeowners all across our area are beginning to consider how a garage renovation, or a new garage, may be the perfect answer for their needs.

"Over the past year, more people have been asking about converting their garages to living space and building new garages to house the family cars," said Amie Riggs Swarts, vice president of Riggs Construction & Design.

How homeowners are using this newly created space varies with the family's needs and lifestyle.

"We've created multipurpose spaces for music, games and home theater, as well as living quarters for elderly parents or kids back from college," said Swarts. "Regardless of the need, we feel this trend is more evidence of homeowners wanting to stay in their existing homes."

As more homeowners continue to choose remodeling over moving, Riggs works with them through the firm's nationally recognized design process, which outlines the full project from drawings and budgets to the selection of all items and finishes. This process takes the unknown out of remodeling and empowers homeowners to feel confident about their projects.

"Throughout my family's 50-year history, we've built strong relationships with our clients who come back to us time and again — and refer their family and friends — for their remodeling, repair and home maintenance needs," said Swarts.

Whether it's a small project or a large remodeling job, Riggs is committed to superior service, and creating delightful experiences for clients.

"I have had the best experience coming to your practice and wanted you all to know how important your friendliness, professionalism, and expertise is to me. Before I came to see you, I hadn't been to see the dentist in six years! I was so afraid due to previous negative experiences, but it has all been turned around thanks to you all. I have recommended you to everyone I know and raved of the excellent care you provide. With sincere thanks and appreciation."

Dr. Strohmeyer said he and his staff care so much about their patients and provide them with the best care possible. "Whether it is a routine checkup, painful emergency or a cosmetic procedure, all patients will leave feeling and looking better," Strohmeyer continued.

He also appreciates the referrals he gets from his patients.

"We would be honored to be your oral health care providers," said Dr. Strohmeyer. "Research is showing more and more how oral health can positively and negatively affect overall health. If it has been awhile since you have seen a dentist, make it a new year's resolution to put the past behind you. Schedule a comprehensive oral examination and a professional cleaning. We are currently accepting new patients."
